

Rocsean Spencer, CCA is the Small Business Program Director for New Orleans Ernest N. Morial Convention Center and industry leader in conventions and tradeshow. The Ernest N. Morial New Orleans Exhibition Hall Authority (“Authority”), the Convention Center’s governing board, created the position to promote the importance of diversity, inclusion and small business development at the Convention Center.

In this role, Mrs. Spencer is tasked with developing and managing the Small and Emerging Business Opportunity Program, and serves as liaison between the Authority, internal stakeholders and the community.

Mrs. Spencer comes to the Convention Center from the City of New Orleans, Office of Supplier Diversity(OSD) where she served as the Department Lead. Prior to that tenure she served in OSD as a Interin, Certification Officer, Compliance Officer and also the Certification Coordinator overseeing the SLDBE certification department.

Mrs. Spencer earned her B.A. in Public Administration from Southern University at New Orleans. She also earned her Contract Compliance Administrator Certification from American Contract Compliance Association and Morgan State University for Continuing and Professional Studies.

In addition to her memberships in several professional and community organizations, Mrs. Spencer serves as a committee member on the City of New Orleans, SLDBE Appeals Committee.

Aside from her professional life, Mrs. Spencer is the wife of 25 yrs. to Mr. Duane Spencer and together they have three sons.